

Gary

He likes being included.

Gary wanders gently through Duckdom.
Usually carrying something.

Sometimes it is sandwiches.
Sometimes books.
Sometimes things that belong
to other people.

Nobody is entirely sure how Gary collects so many objects during the day,
but he seems very pleased about it.

Gary doesn't always understand the plans.
Or the lists.
Or why Kevin suddenly needs
seventeen pieces of paper.

But he likes helping.
And he likes company.

You'll often find Gary quietly following along behind
the others,
happy simply to be part of things.

Duckdom feels calmer with Gary nearby.
Even if he occasionally gets lost
on the way to the picnic.

Gary's Motto:
Good things
shared,
are good things.

Slow feet. Happy heart. Always welcome.

